The Department of Fish and Wildlife will be hosting the 2015 Wildlife Summit at the Hyatt Regency Tamaya Resort and Spa at Santa Ana Pueblo near Bernalillo, New Mexico from March 11 through March 12, 2015. The conference was planned and organized by Department personnel and its intended audience is Council Delegates, Chapter officials, grazing officials, land and farm board members and community members. The goals of the conference are to inform and educate community leaders on the need for wildlife management initiatives and promote wildlife conservation at the chapter levels. Additionally, information regarding compliance requirements for proposed development, including homesite leases, will be provided at the Conference. This conference will be extremely beneficial to newly-elected council delegates and new political appointees.

Attached is a flyer promoting the details of the Wildlife Summit. Your approval is requested on behalf of all Divisions, Departments, Navajo Nation employees, Chapter Officials and Council Delegates that will be attending.
